sustainable mode of transport an ideal choice for the city's residents and visitors alike.

Electric micro-mobility is pivotal in transforming urban commuting, offering an efficient, sustainable solution. Helbiz remains steadfast in its dedication to providing Palermo's residents with a reliable, user-friendly service. The increased fleet of electric scooters is set to further enhance urban mobility, promote greener lifestyle choices, and contribute to reducing traffic and road congestion, thereby fostering a cleaner and more accessible urban environment.

"We're humbled and excited about the renewed opportunity to serve the vibrant city of Palermo," stated Luca Santambrogio, Country Manager of Helbiz in Italy. "Our top ranking in the application process speaks to our team's hard work and our commitment to offering a high-quality, sustainable service. We look forward to continuing our contribution to Palermo's sustainability efforts and to playing an integral part in shaping the city's micro-mobility landscape."
